Insurance Company of Newark, N. J. Examined — Surplus $350,000 More Than Stated in Company's Reporta

WORDS OF COMMENDATION By the Great Consulting Actuary David Parks Fackler,

[Hartford (Conn.) Daily Times.] In these days of gensational developsents in the in maince business nothng seems to interest the averag ewapaper writer on this tools that I t all commendatory to the business and it is refreshing to find something on the other side of the question.

The Mutual Benefit of Newark has always been considered by experts and students of life insurance, the model. ompany of the wrid, and the report of the recent and thorough examina ion of the company by so eminent map as David Parks Fackler confirm hat opinion. On this account sole he company's husiness was increase over 23 per cent during the first sev months of this year over the same pe d of 1904, while the usual gold in Mutual Benefit is about 10 per cent. Mr. Fackler ends his repert as ows: "The outcome of the corrections found to be so much in favor the company as to make their surp the annual statement. The surplus marked that this surplus belongs l participating policy-holders, not include deferred dividend a imulations for narricular classes ticy-holders, as the company h ever issued policies upon any tontin deferred dividend plan.

"Critical inspection of the minutes of the board of trustees shows that mey gave constant and careful after en to the affairs of their trust, Th ffice books and papers, together wit Il the observations of your examiner ave satisfied them that there nproper expenditure, and that th opporently exclusively, in the interest
